EPOS DISTRIBUTOR ADDS OT-100 POCKET SIZE ORDER TAKING TERMINAL TO ITS PRODUCT RANGE

EPOS Distributor, the York based Specialist Retail IT distributor is pleased to announce the launch of the Partner Tech's new OT-100 handheld ordering terminal. The OT-100 is a touchscreen wireless ordering terminal designed specifically with mobility in mind for waiters or bar staff to carry around instead of a notepad.

Michelle Spencer, EPOS Distributor BDM commented "we are excited about the launch of this product. When a member of staff keys an order into the OT-100, it is instantly transmitted to the bar and to the kitchen, so the waiter does not need to return to the kitchen, and can then progress to serve the next customer. This device is sure to be extremely well received in the hospitality market, as it is designed to make order taking a simpler process."

Rox Ellis, Marketing Manager at Partner Tech added "because it is a standalone device, it allows restaurant or bar waiters to take orders without the need for static tills. This therefore increases order taking speed and hence reduces waiting time for customers, all of this contributing to improving the overall customer service experience."

The OT-100 features a 4.3" widescreen touch screen and WiFi and Bluetooth connectivity. Its pocket-friendly size and ability to withstand a drop of 1.2 metres makes it a sleek, rugged and powerful tool for waiting and bar staff.

PRESS RELEASE

Pre-loaded with Windows CE 5.0 operating systems, the OT-100 can easily be integrated into any catering environment.

The OT-100 is available to order now from Varlink. For pricing and stock availability, please visit our website www.eposdistributor.co.uk.
